Beth Winkelstein, PhD

Dr. Winkelstein serves as Vice Provost for Education and Professor of Bioengineering at the University of Pennsylvania. Widely published, and a highly sought-after speaker, she is the world's leading expert in pain mechanisms resulting from whiplash injury and has focused her research in recent years on the facet joint and its capsule.

and, of course, Dr. Croft

Dr. Croft will exhaustively search through all of the 2017 world literature for papers likely to be of interest to physicians specializing in neuromusculoskeletal disorders, particularly as it relates to motor vehicle trauma. This includes both the biomedical and engineering literature. He'll give attendees both the authors' abstract and his own insightful critique of these papers. The accompanying books are usually 200 pages plus. Proceedings are available as books and as Hypertext 4.1 Plug-Ins.
